

Katherine is

The Poetry of My Life

by

G. A. Blackburn

Life is an infinite miracle, a journey that never ends.

Each day we begin our story with an eternal plan.

We have all been connected from the very start but

It will take us our lifetime to understand how it works.

During my journey I was fortunate to find a soulmate to join me and share my time.

Our adventure is called life, you the angel of my mind, my reason for living you are my wife.

Words cannot describe the joy she has brought to our lives

It is the love in our hearts and souls we share

That has joined us as one.

The moments in our lives flow from a beautiful and wondrous light

That sings like a poem we have created without any words.

It is the poetry of the lives we share and the journey we are on

Through this eternity creating our story that never ends, and a

Soul poem of our life.

Katherine our destinies have intertwined

And our journey is now the poetry of my life.

Katherine you are the reason I breathe, the reason I think,
the reason I am.
