

No Crying in Heaven

By Gerald Blackburn

For Katherine

There is no crying in heaven it's a place filled only with love,

But there must be a place somewhere there for all the tears of love.

I have cried every day since you have gone and these tears all wash away my pain.

They make room for the memories and love of the times
We shared together that made my heart light shine.

If there is no crying in heaven, will you please save Your tears of love for me?

Then we will cry together on that day we continue our destiny.

We are One.
